

Stating vs. Supporting

Humanities 8

Stating

- Many part of your paper are just statements
- Statements of fact
- Your evidence from your outline is really just statements
- Your job in your rough draft is to explain all of your statements

Going Beyond Statements

- Statements
 - The Industrial Revolution positively changed the world in many ways.
- Is this enough to prove your point? That colonization had a negative impact on the country?
- What do you do with this statement?

Practicing

- Statement:
 - Today is a great day.

How will you support this?

Supporting

- Supporting is really explaining your statement
- Your explanation makes clear through examples and specific evidence the point you are trying to make.
- Do not expect the reader to make the connections
- You make all of the connections yourself.

Using your Paper

- Write down one statement and then support it.